ACADEMIC DETAILS

Students in FREN 200 or FREN 300 receive three credit hours for each three weeks of French study. Prior to departure, students participate in orientation sessions at Ashland University. At Institut Français des Alpes (IFALPES), students are placed in a class commensurate with her/his abilities, based on the results of a written and oral assessment. Course content will be determined by the needs of the student(s). Students will be evaluated weekly by the instructor. Upon returning to Ashland University, students participate in a debriefing session with the faculty director. An additional afternoon language class will be available for students who need help to reach the intermediate level.

Successful completion of FREN 200 (6 hrs.) fulfills the CCI requirement, but may not cover the exact concepts covered in FREN 251 and 252. Students planning to continue their study of French may be required to take FREN 251 on campus before enrolling in 300-level French classes.
